

Dear San Antonio GEAA members and friends,

Am writing to share a most informative interview with GEAA Board member, Jim Smyle, from Texas Public Radio's The Source concerning the latest developments on SAWS' Vista Ridge Water Project.

As an Independent Consultant in Environment, Natural Resources and Rural Development who worked for the World Bank from 1988 to 2006, Jim was responsible for numerous natural resources investment projects in Central America and Mexico. We are really lucky to have him on our board of directors! His expertise has been invaluable in informing GEAA's position on this very expensive project.

Since the bankruptcy of Abengoa, the original architect of this deal, SAWS has continually changed the details of the Vista Ridge project. Learn more about why Vista Ridge is not probably not the right project for San Antonio by clicking here.

Enjoy and, have a great weekend!
