

Dear GEAA Members and Friends,

We need your help in saving our little Balconian bird friend. There is a move afoot to remove the golden-cheeked warbler from listing, and protections, as an endangered species. The habitat for the warbler roughly mirrors GEAA's service area, which is becoming more densely developed every day. The golden-cheeked warbler continues to be threatened by habitat loss and urban development. If some folks have their way, large sections of this bird's homeland will be opened to development and lost forever.

You can learn more about this issue, and sign a petition to save the warbler, here.

Please share this petition with your friends, relatives, organizations, and everyone who wants to see the Hill Country and its indigenous species protected.

Thank you!
